21c for All 25c Christmas Presents

But Only Until the Gong Sounds at Midday Tomorrow

Not one of these thousands of presents is cheap in the disagreeable sense of the world. The distinction between the articles here and those you find at the stores where cheap goods are the rule is this—the articles here are selected by specialists with artistic temperament and training, while the articles at the cheap stores are selected more for their glitter and show and size. It is not necessary that a little-priced article be inartistic—please note exceptions here:
